

Please don't "Bring it on." Should Sinclair
Broadcasting force
its stations to air
"Stolen Honor"
without acknowledging that it is in fact
political campaign
advertising, I will be compelled to join
any and all
litigants in a
class-action lawsuit against Sinclair and you, the FCC, for federal bias in the current election
process.

This is not a threat; it is a promise. I am an independent voter
who does not support (or in this election, even like)
either political party candidate for the presidency.
But I take offense
when my tax dollars
are used by an FCC
licensed network to air political advertising for either candidate
without providing
the other candidate
equal access at the same "price."

Enough said. The FCC is well aware of Sinclair's stated intentions. It is required to enforce
its own regulations,
and can not claim
ignorance. The ball
is in your court.

Thank you,
